

The Diary of Anne Frank... continued?

In the news recently was the story about a discovery of two “hidden pages” within the Anne Frank diary. I always love hearing about historical finds and this one particularly hits a chord as it lands close to the essence of what we do. After all, what are family films and videos other than a different form of a diary record?

Here’s the article about the find that was published on the Smithsonian Mag website.

Researchers Decipher Two Hidden Pages of Anne Frank’s Diary

What little pieces of your history are yet to be discovered? They just might be on that one mystery videotape or unlabeled reel of film you have tucked away in a drawer. You'll never know what treasures they may hold until you get them converted to a form you can actually use to watch on today's media equipment. Bring them on down to Home Video Studio. We can help you reveal your past and fill in the missing pieces of the puzzle that is your life.

Michael Ondrasik and Home Video Studio specialize in the preservation of family memories through the digitalization of film, videotapes, audio cassettes, photos and slides. For more information, call 352-735-8550 or visit our website.