

Safer at Home – Day Twenty-Six

April 27, 2020

I have a website that I wanted to share with you all. Well, not a website per se... it is a Facebook group that currently has over 2 million members. It's designed around a simple concept. Since most of us, and I am talking globally here, are confined within our homes, the only real views we have to cast our eyes upon are the ones we see out our windows.

The Facebook group "The View From My Window" simply asks people to share the view they are spending their days watching. And it is mesmerizing. Who knew that people lived in areas that afforded such lovely vistas?

And as more and more people add their views to the group's photo collection, members have an opportunity to "travel the world" from the comfort of their living room. I've got to say, there are worse ways to spend one's time during the lockdown.

And for what it's worth, the picture accompanying this post is indeed the view from my window overlooking one of the conservation areas found in picturesque Mount Dora. And it is one that, along with a glass of wine, continues to provide me with a peaceful and relaxing way to end my day.
